Appeal from the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of California

Honorable David E. Russell, Bankruptcy Judge, Presiding

Before: MARKELL, MONTALI and PAPPAS, Bankruptcy Judges.

<sup>1</sup>This disposition is not appropriate for publication. Although it may be cited for whatever persuasive value it may have (see Fed. R. App. P. 32.1), it has no precedential value. See 9th Cir. BAP Rule 8013-1.

1 This is an appeal, after trial, of a judgment in favor of a 2 trustee in a breach of contract action. The plaintiff, Michael 3 Burkart, chapter 7<sup>2</sup> trustee, received a judgment in the amount of 4 $131,152.60 for unpaid installments, interest, and late charges 5 due on a contract for the sale of a business. We AFFIRM the 6 bankruptcy court's judgment.

7 I. FACTS

8 On August 4, 1999, seller, Joseph Spera ("Spera"), and 9 buyer, Philip Ball ("Ball"), entered a written "Purchase 10 Agreement" for the sale of the assets of a business known as S&T 11 Towing for $390,000. As consideration for the transfer of 12 certain assets, the Purchase Agreement required Ball to make a 13 down payment of $100,000, monthly installment payments totaling 14 $190,000, and assume credit lines/leases in the amount of 15 $100,000.

16 Ball made the initial down payment and Spera delivered all 17 business assets covered by the Purchase Agreement, including the 18 business' premises, tow trucks, and shop equipment. Ball assumed 19 all credit lines/leases, and made the monthly installment 20 payments from September 1999 through April 2000.

21 At the time of the sale, the majority of the business' 22 revenues came from a contract ("AAA Contract") with the 23 California State Automobile Association ("AAA"). The Purchase

25 <sup>2</sup>Unless otherwise indicated, all chapter, section, and rule 26 references are to the Bankruptcy Code, 11 U.S.C. §§ 101-1532 as 27 enacted and promulgated prior to the effective date (October 17, 28 2005) of the relevant provisions of the Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act of 2005, Pub. L. 109-8, 119 Stat. 23 1001-9037.

1 Agreement does not expressly and specifically assign the AAA
2 Contract to Ball; instead, it contains a recital which required
3 Spera to perform consulting services consisting of attending AAA 4 meetings when necessary for the 32 months following the signing
5 of the Purchase Agreement.

6 Spera told Ball that the AAA Contract was not a salable 7 item. According to Ball's testimony, when he signed the Purchase 8 Agreement, he intended that the AAA Contract would be transferred 9 at some time in the future. The transfer of the AAA Contract was 10 not an express condition of the sale. Accordingly, the signed 11 Purchase Agreement made no mention of the transfer of the AAA 12 Contract.

13 In the spring of 2000, Ball and Spera met with 14 representatives of AAA and were told that AAA was terminating S&T 15 Towing's contract. At that time, Spera first learned that the 16 AAA application form had been submitted to Ball months before, 17 but that Ball had not returned it to AAA. After the meeting, 18 Ball told Spera that he had not filled out the AAA application 19 form. Ball did not at any time apply for a AAA contract under 20 his own name.

21 Spera and his wife filed for chapter 7 relief in January 22 2002, and Michael F. Burkart was appointed as trustee. In that 23 capacity Burkart sued Ball to collect the balance owed on the 24 Purchase Agreement. Following trial, the bankruptcy court ruled 25 for Burkart, entering judgment in the trustee's favor for 26 $131,152.60. Ball appealed.

1 II. JURISDICTION

2 The bankruptcy court had jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C.
3 §§ 157(b) (2) (A) and (O). We have jurisdiction pursuant to 28
4 U.S.C. §§ 158(a) (1) and (c) (1).

5 III. ISSUES

6 Whether the bankruptcy court erred in determining that the 7 Purchase Agreement was a valid contract, and that Ball was not 8 excused from performance of completing payment of the agreed-upon 9 price for the business.

10 IV. STANDARDS OF REVIEW

11 Findings of fact are reviewed under a "clearly erroneous" 12 standard. "A finding is 'clearly erroneous' when although there 13 is evidence to support it, the reviewing court on the entire 14 evidence is left with the definite and firm conviction that a 15 mistake has been committed." United States v. U.S. Gypsum Co.
16 333 U.S. 364, 395(1948). "If two views of the evidence are 17 possible, the trial judge's choice between them cannot be clearly 18 erroneous." Anderson v. Bessemer City, 470 U.S. 564, 573-19 575(1985); Hansen v. Moore, (In re Hansen), 368 B.R. 868, 874-875 20 (9th Cir. BAP 2007).

21 V. DISCUSSION

22 This appeal raises two basic issues: was there a valid 23 contract between the parties as evidenced by the Purchase 24 Agreement, and if so, was Ball's performance excused?

25 1. The Purchase Agreement is a valid, enforceable contract.

26 Under California law, "[i]t is essential to the existence of 27 a contract that there should be: 1) Parties capable of 28 contracting, 2) Their consent, 3) A lawful object; and 4) A

1 sufficient cause or consideration." CAL. CIV. CODE § 1550. See 2 also United States ex rel. Oliver v. Parsons Co., 195 F.3d 457, 3 462 (9th Cir. 1999), cert. denied, 530 U.S. 1228 (2000); Ramsey 4 v. Vista Mort. Corp. (In re Ramsey), 176 B.R. 183, 187 (9th Cir.
5 BAP 1994).

6 The bankruptcy court held:

7 "But I have decide [sic] this particular case on the 8 basis, I guess, of the evidence before me and the 9 California law. And first of all, I find that there 10 was a contract. I mean, I don't think there's any way 11 of saying there was no contract. There was a written 12 document. It was signed, both of the parties acted 13 upon it, money was paid, assets were transferred."

14 Hr'g Tr. May 11, 2007, p. 160:15-22.

15 The elements of a contract as defined by the California 16 Civil Code are met here. Ball and Spera, parties capable of 17 contracting, signed the Purchase Agreement, demonstrating their 18 consent, for the purchase of a towing business, a lawful object, 19 in consideration of exchange of assets for $390,000. The 20 bankruptcy court's holding that there was a valid contract is 21 supported by the evidence at trial. Therefore the court's 22 holding is not clearly erroneous.

23 2. There are no excuses for Ball's failure to perform.

24 Ball put forth four arguments as to why he should be excused 25 from his failure to perform (i.e., pay the balance of the 26 purchase price) under the terms of the Purchase Agreement:

27 1) A material asset was bargained for in a purchase contract 28 and was not delivered;

2) A significant asset of the business was not transferred, making the Purchase Agreement an executory contract;

1           3) There was commercial frustration as to the agreement of 2 the parties; and

3           4) There was a material failure of consideration as to the 4 agreement of the parties.

5           Items 1), 2), and 4) are simply different variations of the 6 same point: Ball believes that the Purchase Agreement required 7 the assignment of the AAA Contract.<sup>3</sup> Since that contract was not 8 only not assigned, but terminated by AAA, Ball maintains that 9 Spera was in material breach of the Purchase Agreement, and that 10 this material breach excused Ball's further performance.

11           As the assignment of the AAA Contract is not expressly 12 provided for in the Purchase Agreement, Ball has a heavy burden 13 in showing that its assignment was an implied term of the 14 Purchase Agreement. California law provides that "[t]he language 15 of a contract is to govern its interpretation, if the language is 16 clear and explicit, and does not involve an absurdity." CAL. CIV.
17 CODE § 1638. "The fundamental goal of contractual interpretation 18 is to give effect to the mutual intention of the parties." Bank 19 of the W. v. Super. Ct., 2 Cal. 4th 1254, 1264 (1992). "Such 20 intent is to be inferred, if possible, solely from the written 21 provisions of the contract." AIU Ins. Co. v. Super. Ct., 51 22

23 _____
24           <sup>3</sup>Ball's third point - that the purpose of the contract was 25 commercially frustrated - is not supported by California law.
26 Frustration of purpose requires that the frustrating event not be 27 reasonably foreseeable. 1 BERNARD E. WITKIN, SUMMARY OF CALIFORNIA LAW, 28 Contracts §§ 843-846 (10th ed. 2005); RESTATEMENT (SECOND) OF CONTRACTS § 265 (1981). Here, however, the status of the AAA Contract was well known, and the bankruptcy court found that Ball closed the sale transaction initially knowing that assignment of the AAA Contract was not a condition of his performance.

1 Cal.3d 807, 822 (1990). "If contractual language is clear and 2 explicit, it governs." Bank of the W., 2 Cal. 4th at 1264.

3 As the bankruptcy court found, the signed Purchase Agreement 4 made no mention of the transfer of the AAA Contract. Moreover, 5 testimony at trial established that Spera told Ball that the AAA 6 Contract was not a salable item. Most tellingly, according to 7 Ball's own testimony, when Ball signed the Purchase Agreement, it 8 was his intention that the AAA Contract would be transferred at 9 some time in the future.

10 The subsequent actions of the parties also show that there 11 was no implied term related to transfer. In the spring of 2000, 12 Ball and Spera met with representatives of AAA and were told that 13 AAA was terminating the contract. At that time, Spera first 14 learned that the AAA application form had been submitted to Ball 15 months before, and had not been returned to AAA. After the 16 meeting, Ball told Spera that he had not filled out the AAA 17 application form. Ball did not at any time apply for the AAA 18 Contract under his own name.

19 From this evidence, the bankruptcy court stated,

20 I can only conclude that there was a contract entered 21 into in good faith, that the parties pretty much agreed 22 to everything. We know that AAA was material, very 23 material to this contract, but I'm not -- I just can't conclude that the reason that AAA canceled was because of Mr. Spera's failure to act. I think it was because of Mr. Ball's failure to act.

24 Hr'g Tr. May 11, 2007, p. 160:8-15

25 There can be no doubt that the AAA Contract was material to 26 the parties to the Purchase Agreement. There is nothing, 27 however, in the record to indicate that transfer of the AAA 28 Contract was a material term in the Purchase Agreement. Nor does

1 the record reveal that Spera guaranteed either explicitly or 2 implicitly that the AAA Contract would be transferred; only that 3 he would facilitate its transfer.

4 Giving deference to the bankruptcy court, as the BAP must 5 with respect to factual findings, the bankruptcy court did not 6 clearly err in finding that Ball was not excused from completing 7 payments agreed upon for the purchase of the business. The 8 evidence in the record supports the bankruptcy court's ruling; it 9 is a bedrock rule that if two views of the evidence are possible, 10 as they are here, the trial judge's choice between them cannot be 11 clearly erroneous. Anderson, 470 U.S. at 573-575.
