3 INTRODUCTION

4 Gloyd Green and Gail Holland (collectively, "Greens") appeal
5 an order declining to sanction Truman Holt, trustee of the Howard 6 Family Trust dated August 21, 1998 ("Holt"), Holt's attorneys
7 Jerimy L. Kirschner, Robert Graham and LawyersWest, Ltd., Oscar
8 Brannon Howard III and his attorney Anthony L. Barney
9 (collectively, "Appellees"). We AFFIRM.

10 FACTS

11 Prior to filing their bankruptcy case, the Greens provided 12 their bankruptcy counsel, Mr. Burke, with a $32,000 retainer.
13 The Greens obtained $7,500 of the funds used to pay Mr. Burke's 14 retainer through a loan from Gail Holland's mother, Theresa
15 Holland.¹

16 At the initial § 341² meeting of creditors ("Meeting of 17 Creditors"), the Greens testified that Gail obtained the $7,500 18 from an account held jointly in Gail and Theresa's name ("Joint 19 Account"). The funds in the Joint Account belonged to Theresa, 20 but Gail had spoken with Theresa on the telephone and Theresa had 21 allowed her to withdraw the funds. The Greens transferred the 24 for the Western District of Washington, sitting by designation.

25 ¹ We use Gail and Theresa for clarity since there are two 26 Ms. Hollands, but mean no disrespect.

28 references are to the Bankruptcy Code, 11 U.S.C. §§ 101-1532.
"Rule" references are to the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure.

1 $7,500 drawn from the Joint Account to Mr. Burke. The exact 2 method of transmission of the $7,500 from the Joint Account to 3 Mr. Burke is not clear from the record.

4 Mr. Burke's employment application, the Greens' Statement of 5 Financial Affairs and the Disclosure of Compensation of Attorney
6 for Debtor(s) identify the Greens as the source of the $32,000 7 retainer paid to Mr. Burke. They do not disclose that $7,500 of 8 the $32,000 came from Theresa. Theresa is listed as a creditor
9 on the Greens' Schedule F in the amount of $7,500, for a loan 10 incurred in 2014.

11 On February 25, 2015, the Appellees filed a motion seeking 12 to disqualify Mr. Burke as bankruptcy counsel for the Greens and 13 require Mr. Burke to disgorge the retainer and any fees paid to 14 him in connection with the case. On February 26, 2015, the 15 Appellees filed an amended motion to disqualify Mr. Burke
16 ("Disgorgement Motion"). The arguments in the Disgorgement
17 Motion included that the transfer of the $7,500 from Theresa 18 should have been disclosed, the transfer of the $7,500 from 19 Theresa plus the Greens' debt to Theresa created an actual 20 conflict of interest rendering Mr. Burke ineligible to be 21 bankruptcy counsel for the Greens, and Mr. Burke violated 22 §§ 327(a) and 329 and Rules 2014 and 2016.

23 On February 27, 2015, Mr. Burke sent a letter and a draft 24 motion for sanctions under Rule 9011 ("Draft Sanctions Motion")
25 to Mr. Kirschner and Mr. Barney asserting that he would file it 26 if the Disgorgement Motion was not withdrawn within 21 days. The 27 Appellees did not withdraw the Disgorgement Motion.

28 On March 2, 2015, Gail testified under oath in an

1 evidentiary hearing related to another motion in the Greens'
2 bankruptcy case. The issue of the retainer was raised, and when 3 asked who had paid Mr. Burke's retainer, Gail responded, "We paid 4 it."

5 On March 20, 2015, the final day of the 21-day safe harbor 6 period under Rule 9011, Mr. Burke filed a response to the 7 Disgorgement Motion. Attached to the response are two 8 declarations, one from Mr. Burke and one from Gail, stating, 9 among other things, that Theresa did not pay Mr. Burke anything
10 and did not have a payment agreement with Mr. Burke. Mr. Burke's 11 declaration also stated the retainer was paid to him directly by 12 the Greens. Theresa died prior to the Meeting of Creditors and, 13 therefore, was not available to testify or otherwise provide 14 information about the $7,500 loan transaction.

15 On March 27, 2015, Holt filed a reply regarding the 16 Disgorgement Motion ("Disgorgement Reply").³ In it, Holt
17 acknowledges that the loaned $7,500 was transmitted indirectly 18 from Theresa to Mr. Burke, but argues that, regardless of the 19 means of transmission, Theresa is still the "source" of the funds 20 under § 329(a) and that her loan to the Greens should have been 21 disclosed by Mr. Burke and the Greens.

22 On May 1, 2015, the bankruptcy court gave an oral ruling 23 denying the Disgorgement Motion. In its oral ruling, the 24 bankruptcy court determined that the entire retainer came 25

26 ³ The Disgorgement Motion was filed by Holt and 27 Mr. Howard III, although it was signed only by Mr. Kirschner.
28 The Disgorgement Reply was filed solely by Holt and signed only by Mr. Kirschner.

1 directly from the Greens to Mr. Burke and, therefore, Mr. Burke 2 did not violate the disclosure requirements of § 329(a) and 3 Rules 2014 and 2016 or the employment requirements of § 327(a).
4 The bankruptcy court declined to interpret the "source of such 5 compensation" language from § 329(a) to require the disclosure of 6 the indirect transfer of the loaned funds from Theresa to 7 Mr. Burke.

8 On May 5, 2015, the bankruptcy court entered an order
9 denying the Disgorgement Motion.

10 On July 11, 2015, the Greens filed a motion seeking 11 sanctions under Rule 9011 against the Appellees for filing and 12 failing to withdraw the Disgorgement Motion ("Sanctions Motion").
13 After a hearing, the bankruptcy court gave an oral ruling denying 14 the Sanctions Motion. Thereafter, on September 1, 2015, the 15 bankruptcy court entered its order denying the Sanctions Motion.
16 This appeal timely followed.

17 JURISDICTION

18 The bankruptcy court had jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C.
19 §§ 1334 and 157(b) (2) (A). We have jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C.
20 § 158.

21 ISSUE

22 Did the bankruptcy court abuse its discretion when it 23 declined to award Rule 9011 sanctions against the Appellees for 24 filing and failing to withdraw the Disgorgement Motion?

25 STANDARDS OF REVIEW

26 We review a bankruptcy court's refusal to impose Rule 9011
27 sanctions for abuse of discretion. Classic Auto Refinishing, 28 Inc. v. Marino (In re Marino), 37 F.3d 1354, 1358 (9th Cir.

1 1994). We apply a two-part test to determine whether the 2 bankruptcy court abused its discretion. United States v.
3 Hinkson, 585 F.3d 1247, 1261-62 (9th Cir. 2009) (en banc).
4 First, we consider de novo whether the bankruptcy court applied 5 the correct legal standard. Id. Second, we consider if its 6 application of the correct legal standard or its factual findings 7 are illogical, implausible or without support in the record.
8 Id.; DeLuca v. Seare (In re Seare), 515 B.R. 599, 614 (9th Cir.
9 BAP 2014).

10 DISCUSSION

11 The Greens assert the bankruptcy court abused its discretion 12 in two ways when it denied the Sanctions Motion. First, they 13 argue the bankruptcy court abused its discretion by ruling as a 14 matter of law that the Sanctions Motion could not be granted 15 because the Draft Sanctions Motion did not contain the 16 declarations attached to the Sanctions Motion. Second, they 17 argue the bankruptcy court abused its discretion when it denied 18 the Sanctions Motion because the Disgorgement Motion was 19 factually and legally frivolous.

20 The bankruptcy court applied the correct legal standard.
21 The bankruptcy court quoted the applicable portions of 22 Rule 9011(b), and cited In re Blue Pine Group, Inc., 448 B.R.
23 267, 271 (Bankr. D. Nev. 2010), affirmed in part and vacated in 24 part by In re Blue Pine Group, 526 F. App'x 768 (9th Cir. 2013), 25 Operating Engineers Pension Trust v. A-C Co., 859 F.2d 1336, 1344 26 (9th Cir. 1988), Larez v. Holcomb, 16 F.3d 1513, 1522 (9th Cir.
27 1994), and Strom v. United States, 641 F.3d 1051, 1059 (9th Cir.
28 2011) for the propositions that: (1) Rule 9011 sanctions are

1 reserved for exceptional cases and cases where the action is 2 clearly frivolous, legally unreasonable, or without legal 3 foundation, (2) the party to be sanctioned must have made an 4 objectively reasonable investigation into the relevant law and 5 facts, and (3) sanctions should not be levied against a party 6 raising a novel issue of law when there is no case law to the 7 contrary. Rule 9011 is the applicable Rule, and the cases 8 properly recite the Ninth Circuit law on the issuance of 9 Rule 9011 sanctions.

10 The bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion by ruling
11 as a matter of law that the Sanctions Motion could not be granted 12 because the Draft Sanctions Motion did not contain evidence. The 13 bankruptcy court made no such ruling.

14 The bankruptcy court did discuss the lack of evidence 15 attached to the Draft Sanctions Motion in its oral ruling: "the 16 [Draft Sanctions Motion] . . . did not contain any other exhibits 17 confirming that the debtors were the exclusive and direct payor 18 of the monies received by their counsel," and "[t]here was no
19 affidavit evidence [when the Disgorgement Motion was filed] . . .
20 from debtors' counsel and from Gail confirming that Gail had made 21 the payment directly to Mr. Burke as opposed to the payment 22 having been made directly by T[h]eresa to Mr. Burke." Nowhere in 23 the bankruptcy court's oral ruling or its order denying the 24 Sanctions Motion, however, is there a statement that the lack of 25 evidence with the Draft Sanctions Motion doomed the Sanctions 26 Motion as a matter of law. Rather, the oral ruling demonstrates 27 the bankruptcy court considered the lack of evidence as one 28 factor in assessing whether there was a sufficient inquiry into

1 the facts and an objectively reasonable basis to file the 2 Disgorgement Motion. The bankruptcy court denied the Sanctions
3 Motion because, “[t]he Court on the record before it is satisfied 4 that it was sufficiently unsettled, that it was objectively 5 reasonable for the creditors’ attorney to take the position that 6 they did in filing the motion that is the subject of the 7 sanctions motion here.”

8 The Greens’ larger point, that Holt and Mr. Howard III 9 should have withdrawn the Disgorgement Motion after discovering 10 the indirect nature of the transfer of funds from Theresa to 11 Mr. Burke, does not give full credit to the arguments asserted in 12 the Disgorgement Motion and the Disgorgement Reply. The 13 Appellees argued that even the indirect transfer of funds from 14 Theresa was a fact that needed to be disclosed to satisfy 15 § 329(a) and Rule 2016.

16 There is no binding Ninth Circuit law providing that counsel 17 need not disclose the indirect transfer of funds from a third 18 party insider used to pay a bankruptcy attorney’s retainer. The 19 requirements for disclosure under § 329(a) and Rule 2016 are 20 broad and determined on a case-by-case basis. Neben & Starrett, 21 Inc. v. Chartwell Fin. Corp. (In re Park-Helena Corp.), 63 F.3d 22 877 (9th Cir. 1995). “The duty is one of complete disclosure of 23 all facts.” Id. at 881, quoting In re Plaza Hotel Corp., 24 111 B.R. 882, 883 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 1990). The applicant “must 25 disclose the precise nature of the fee arrangement, and not 26 simply identify the ultimate owner of the funds.” Id. (internal 27 quotations omitted).

28 Without binding Ninth Circuit law to the contrary, the

1 Appellees' argument that the indirect transfer of funds from 2 Theresa to Mr. Burke should have been disclosed is not legally 3 frivolous, and the bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion
4 when it declined to sanction the Appellees. Because there is a 5 legally non-frivolous argument that the indirect transfer of 6 funds should have been disclosed, the Greens' argument that the 7 Appellees should have expended more time investigating whether 8 the $7,500 was transferred directly from Theresa to Mr. Burke or 9 indirectly from Theresa to Mr. Burke through Gail fails as well.⁴ 10 If Theresa should have been disclosed as the ultimate "source" of 11 the funds regardless of how they were transferred from Theresa to 12 Mr. Burke, then the issue of whether the funds were transferred 13 directly or indirectly is not dispositive.

14 The Appellees argue that Mr. Barney, Mr. Howard III and Holt 15 should not be sanctioned because they did not "present" an 16 argument to the bankruptcy court under Rule 9011(b). These 17 arguments were briefed and discussed at oral argument before the 18 bankruptcy court. The bankruptcy court, however, did not clearly 19 rule on whether Mr. Barney, Mr. Howard III and Holt would have 20 been subject to Rule 9011 sanctions if it had decided to award
21 them. The bankruptcy court did not need to rule on that issue 22 since it determined there was no sanctionable conduct. Because 23 the bankruptcy court did not explicitly rule on the issue and its 24 resolution is not necessary to our disposition of this appeal, we 25 decline to rule on it as well.

26
27 ⁴ As the bankruptcy court noted in its oral ruling, further 28 investigation of the direct versus indirect payment issue was complicated by Theresa's death prior to the Meeting of Creditors.

CONCLUSION

2 The bankruptcy court indicated it was a "close" call or 3 question on four occasions in its oral ruling. Regardless, the 4 bankruptcy court identified the correct legal standard and 5 neither its application of that standard nor its factual findings 6 were illogical, implausible or without support in the record.
7 Accordingly, the bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion in 8 denying the Sanctions Motion, and we AFFIRM.
