(2) Facts Showing the Existence and Nature of the Emergency

As explained more fully below, the district court has ordered Petitioners to participate in discovery in advance of a preliminary injunction motion, even though no lawful basis for that discovery exists. The district court's erroneous discovery order seriously and imminently threatens core First Amendment interests, both Petitioners' rights and those of the public. Absent a prompt order staying discovery pending the resolution of this appeal, Petitioners may be compelled to participate in discovery as soon as September 18, 2015, possibly mooted this appeal and depriving Petitioners of critical substantive rights under the anti-SLAPP statute.

(3) Notice Provided to Opposing Counsel

Counsel for Petitioners provided a copy of this Motion to Linda Shostak, Derek Foran, and Christopher Robinson by email and first-class mail on September 14, 2015.

(4) Presentation to the District Court

On August 21, 2015, Counsel for Petitioners requested that the district court stay its discovery order pending appeal. See Transcript of Aug. 21, 2015 Hearing, p. 18, lines 13-17, A021.¹ The district court denied the requested stay.

¹ For documents included in the Appendix to their Petition for Writ of Mandamus, Petitioners have included citations to the Appendix. All other documents cited in this Motion are attached as exhibits.

Pursuant to Fed. R. App. P. 8, Petitioners The Center for Medical Progress; Biomax Procurement Services, LLC; and David Daleiden (together, “CMP”) respectfully request that the Court stay all discovery in Case No. 3:15-cv-3522-WHO (currently pending before the United States District Court for the Northern District of California) pending the Court’s disposition of CMP’s Petition for Writ of Mandamus. In support of this Motion, CMP states the following:

BACKGROUND

1. In this case, Plaintiff National Abortion Federation (“NAF”) seeks injunctive relief prohibiting CMP from speaking publicly on controversial and potentially criminal conduct occurring in the human-tissue-procurement and abortion industries. Plaintiff also seeks monetary damages.

2. CMP’s prior speech on these issues has generated a national debate on these practices and has received extensive media attention. CMP’s speech also has triggered public interest and investigations on the federal and state levels, leading to the opening of several government investigations into the practices unveiled by CMP.

3. On July 31, 2015, NAF obtained a temporary restraining order (“TRO”) prohibiting CMP from releasing certain videos and other information. See Doc. 15 (Order Granting TRO), A114-16.

4. On July 31, 2015, NAF moved for an order to show cause for a preliminary injunction that would impose the same restrictions as the TRO currently imposes. See Doc. 3, attached as Exhibit 1. The requested preliminary injunction is premised exclusively on claims arising under California law, not federal law. Id.

5. On August 3, 2015, the district court ordered expedited discovery relating to the requested preliminary injunction, which discovery was to be completed before Plaintiff filed its motion for preliminary injunction. See Doc. 27, at 3, A113.

6. On August 17, 2015, CMP filed a motion to strike under California's "anti-SLAPP" statute, Cal. Civ. Pro. Code § 425.16. Doc. 66-1, A29-105 (anti-SLAPP motion). The anti-SLAPP statute mandates that "[a]ll discovery proceedings in the action shall be stayed upon the filing of a notice of motion made pursuant to this section." Cal. Civ. Pro. Code § 425.16(g).

7. On August 18, 2015, the district court held that the filing of the anti-SLAPP motion did not stay discovery. See Doc. 70, p. 2, lines 20-22, attached as Exhibit 2.

8. On August 21, 2015, CMP requested that the district court stay discovery pending appellate review of the district court's order denying the requested stay of discovery. Transcript of Aug. 21, 2015 Hearing, p. 18, lines 13-17, A021; see also Fed. R. App. P. 8(a)(1)(A).

9. On August 27, 2015, the district court issued a written order holding that the filing of the anti-SLAPP motion did not stay discovery. Doc. 95, A1-15.

10. On September 14, 2015, CMP filed a Petition for Writ of Mandamus, requesting that the Court direct the district court to stay all discovery pending the disposition of CMP's anti-SLAPP motion, and to rule on the motion for preliminary injunction without conducting discovery.

11. Counsel for NAF indicated that they do not consent to this Motion.

FACTORS WARRANTING A STAY PENDING APPEAL

12. When considering a stay pending appeal, the Court considers four factors: "(1) whether the stay applicant has made a strong showing that he is likely to succeed on the merits; (2) whether the applicant will be irreparably injured absent a stay; (3) whether issuance of the stay will substantially injure the other parties interested in the proceeding; and (4) where the public interest lies." Latta v. Otter, 771 F.3d 496, 498 (2014) (quotation omitted). Here, these factors support granting CMP's requested stay.

13. First, as explained in CMP's Petition for Writ of Mandamus, CMP is likely to succeed on the merits. The district court clearly erred and misapplied Ninth Circuit precedent when it refused to stay discovery under California's anti-SLAPP statute pending disposition of a motion addressing only the legal sufficiency of the allegations in the Complaint. See Cal. Civ. Pro. Code § 425.16(g). Moreover, NAF is not entitled to any discovery to support its motion for preliminary injunction, because under any alleged set of facts, the requested preliminary injunction would violate the First Amendment's prohibition against prior restraints on speech. In short, NAF has failed to assert facts that would support a prior restraint. Mandamus relief is proper to halt discovery where the plaintiff will not be entitled to its requested relief, regardless of what information discovery yields. See, e.g., In re Lombardi, 741 F.3d 888, 895 (8th Cir. 2014) (en banc) (granting mandamus relief and vacating discovery order because plaintiff's complaint should have been dismissed under Rule 12(b)(6)).

14. Second, CMP faces imminent and irreparable harm absent a stay. Absent a stay pending appeal, CMP likely will be compelled to participate in discovery, thereby mooting this appeal and depriving CMP of its substantive rights under California's anti-SLAPP statute. Moreover, NAF's discovery requests implicate critical constitutional interests such as the Fifth Amendment testimonial privilege and the First Amendment right of association. See Perry v. Schwarzenegger, 591 F.3d 1126, 1139-41 (9th Cir. 2009).

15. Third, a stay pending appeal will not prejudice NAF, because the parties have stipulated that the TRO shall remain in effect until the district court resolves the NAF's motion for a preliminary injunction. See Doc. 34, at 3, ¶ 1, A108.

16. Fourth, the public interest favors granting a stay of discovery pending appeal. CMP's prior speech has contributed significantly to ongoing public and political debates on matters of significant and legitimate public interest. The public and the political branches have a strong interest in CMP's continued contributions to those debates. "The Constitution protects the right to receive information and ideas, and that protection is a necessary predicate to the recipient's meaningful exercise of his own rights of speech, press, and political freedom." Garcia v. Google, Inc., 786 F.3d 727, 730 (9th Cir. 2015) (Reinhardt, dissenting from initial denial of emergency rehearing en banc) (quotations omitted). Forcing CMP to undergo baseless and intrusive discovery threatens to coerce CMP into silence, cf. Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 559 (2007), depriving the public of important speech on matters of paramount and legitimate interest.

WHEREFORE, CMP respectfully requests that the Court stay all discovery in Case No. 3:15-cv-3522-WHO (currently pending before the United States District Court for the Northern District of California) until the Court has resolved CMP's Petition for Writ of Mandamus.

Date: September 14, 2015
