DMV Made Simple

DMV.org is a privately owned organization that simplifies government-related info across all states. We created this mega-resource not because we love the DMV, but because we grew tired of standing in long lines at the motor vehicle agencies. In addition to gathering the most accurate information, we cut to the chase and offer our users easy-to-understand, useful details on handling DMV-related business. This includes what you need to know for applying for a driver's license, renewing your vehicle registration, obtaining your driving record and much more.

The coolest thing we do involves utilizing the latest technology to create a positive user experience. We're not even government employees. In fact, we are technology idealists who want to make the Web a better space. Our team thrives on problem solving, innovating and collectively coming up with online tools that give our users the best resource on the Web. Want to save time and skip the hassle? Check out DMV.org and let us know what you think.
