we affirm.

Rivera contends that the district court erred by imposing a 120-month mandatory minimum sentence following his guilty plea to conspiracy to import a controlled substance because he did not have knowledge that the controlled substance was heroin or of the quantity of heroin involved. As Rivera concedes, this argument is foreclosed by United States v. Carranza, 289 F.3d 634, 644 (9th Cir. 2002). We decline Rivera's request that we call for en banc review to reconsider our precedent on this issue.
