No. 13-10137

D.C. No. 4:11-cr-01349-DCB-HCE-1

MEMORANDUM*

Appeal from the United States District Court for the District of Arizona
David C. Bury, District Judge, Presiding

Argued and Submitted March 14, 2014
San Francisco, California

Before: FISHER and BERZON, Circuit Judges, and QUIST, Senior District Judge.

Roberto Castro-Lopez was convicted of violating 21 U.S.C. §§ 841(a)(1), 841(b)(1)(A)(ii)(II), 952(a), 960(a)(1), 960(b)(1)(b)(ii), and received the minimum sentences required by statute. He appeals those sentences, arguing that he should have been sentenced under the “safety valve” provision, 18 U.S.C. § 3553(f), and that the district court’s contrary conclusion relied on the fact of his prior juvenile adjudications, a fact that constitutionally should have been proven to a jury under United States v. Tighe, 266 F.3d 1187, 1194–95 (9th Cir. 2001), and United States v. Washington, 462 F.3d 1124, 1141–42 (9th Cir. 2006). Where, as here, Castro failed to object to the constitutionality of his sentence before the district court, we review for plain error. See, e.g., United States v. Chavez, 611 F.3d 1006, 1009 (9th Cir. 2010) (per curiam).

Tighe, 266 F.3d at 1194–95, and Washington, 462 F.3d at 1141–42, require that the fact of a prior non-jury juvenile adjudication be proven to a jury, or admitted by a defendant, only where Apprendi v. New Jersey, 530 U.S. 466 (2000), and its progeny apply. United States v. Labrada-Bustamante, 428 F.3d 1252, 1263 (9th Cir. 2005), affirmed the constitutionality of the safety valve provision notwithstanding that provision’s reliance on judicial factfinding. If there is any tension between Labrada-Bustamante and Alleyne v. United States, 133 S. Ct. 2151 (2013) — which we do not decide — it does not represent the sort of “clearly irreconcilable” conflict that would allow us to overrule Labrada-Bustamante, see Miller v. Gammie, 335 F.3d 889, 900 (9th Cir. 2003) (en banc), on plain error review.

AFFIRMED.
